Good evening once again and thank you for joining us at =DREAMS Asia Gala Night 2026. Tonight, we gather not simply for dinner, but to celebrate possibilities, the journeys taken, the resilience built, and the futures that are being shaped before our very eyes. Your presence here reflects a shared belief that every young person deserves the opportunity to thrive. And beyond belief, it is the collective effort to build pathways that makes this possible. Selin: On behalf of =DREAMS Singapore and my fellow scholars, thank you for being here tonight. When we see this room filled with supporters, mentors, and partners, it reminds us that we are never walking this journey alone. Jolyn: On that note, hello everyone my name is Jolyn Tan, and I am a =DREAMS scholar. I joined the programme in Secondary 1, and it has been a meaningful part of my journey over the past two years. In 2024, when the Gala was first organised on the =DREAMS campus, my sister was actually one of the emcees. So, it feels quite special for me to be standing here tonight in the same role. And this year, as we celebrate the milestones and growth of =DREAMS Singapore, I'm really honoured to be part of this evening with all of you. Selin: Hi everyone! I am Selin Pang. I just joined =DREAMS this year and I am currently in Secondary 1. I first heard about =DREAMS from my school counsellor, and to be honest, I thought it would be something like a home. But after spending my first month here, I realised it was actually really enjoyable. Over the past few months, I have made new friends, tried new things, and slowly became more comfortable being myself. And as one of your emcees for tonight, I am really happy to welcome you to what has become my home away from home. Jolyn: And on that note, we promise we won't keep you away from dinner for too long. But before that, we hope that through tonight's programme, you will get a glimpse of what your belief has made possible. This evening, you will hear from members of our community, listen to the voices of our scholars, enjoy a special performance, and most importantly, share in the stories that make =DREAMS Singapore what it is today.

At =DREAMS Singapore, we believe in fostering growth wherever it sparks. Beyond the structured settings, it thrives in organic conversations like the ones happening around your tables tonight. Selin: So, if you haven't introduced yourself to someone new yet, this might be a good time. You never know where a conversation might lead. Ms. Deborah : While we are on the topic of getting to know one another – Jolyn, Selin, I have a couple of questions for you. When you first came to campus, what were some things you brought from home that made the space feel more like your own? Jolyn: For me, I brought along my Fugglers. They are these quirky little toys that look a bit strange, but somehow still very cute. Having them around made my space feel a lot more familiar. Selin: For me, it was my Chikawa items, especially Usagi the rabbit. I really like them, and having something I enjoy from home made it easier to settle in. Ms. Deborah : That's lovely. And I think it's these little things that help turn a new environment into a place that feels safe, comfortable, and like home. As we continue the evening, the second course will now be served. Please enjoy.

Your encouragement means a great deal to us as scholars.
8.10pm	Conversation with Scholars	Remove Rostrum Set up chairs for fireside chat Prepare 5 handheld mics	Emcee to invite Kevin and scholars on stage			Yi Tung - Cue Emcee	Ms. Deborah : Beyond programmes and milestones, true impact is best understood through the voices of those who experience it firsthand. This next segment, titled Voices of =DREAMS, offers a closer look at how our scholars have been shaped by their journey here. To moderate this conversation, please join us in welcoming our Director of Scholarship, Mr. Kevin Joseph Francis. (After Fireside Chat Concludes) Selin (after speech): Thank you to our scholars for sharing so candidly. Hearing their stories reminds us that the impact of =DREAMS isn't just seen in outcomes; it's felt in the confidence and in the courage that Scholars need to move forward. Jolyn: And a young scholar, it is really inspiring to see how this journey continues even after graduation. It makes me look forward to what lies ahead. Thank you once again to our scholars for those honest reflections.

Not just academically, but creatively as well. Ms Deborah : Selin, Jolyn – was there ever a moment where you had to step out of your comfort zone here? Selin: For me, I didn't really socialise much before joining =DREAMS. But after coming here, I started playing badminton with others almost every day. At first it felt a bit uncomfortable, but over time I became more confident and open to meeting new people. Jolyn: For me, it was stepping up as a scholar leader during Orientation Camp. I had to help facilitate activities and guide others, which felt quite intimidating at first. But through that experience, I became more confident and learned how to take on more responsibility. Ms. Deborah : And I think that's what makes moments like tonight meaningful. When our scholars take that step forward. Jolyn: And tonight's performance is one of those moments. Selin: For the first segment, our scholars will be presenting a song that they have not only performed but also reworked with lyrics they came up with themselves. Jolyn: We hope you will join us in encouraging our scholars as they take the stage. Selin: Please give them your warmest support as we present tonight's scholar performance. (After Performance Ends) Jolyn (after performance): That definitely deserves another round of applause!

Because of your support, opportunities are created. Pathways are opened. And futures are being shaped. Jolyn: As scholars, we may not always say it enough, but we truly feel the impact of that support.
